The Mechanics of a 'Monster,' 6 Flags, Reluctantly

Of monsters, all imaginary, there have been reports ever since time began.

One of the more durable tales ran for centuries in Scotland—the legend of "The Monster of Loch Ness." It never was exposed, but it certainly developed a substantial credibility gap when, because of the valuable tourist business drawn to Loch Ness another Scottish lake came up with an invented monster of its own to cut into Loch Ness' riches.

The current tale concerns "The Fouke Monster," a myth credited to the small town of the same name in the southern part of Miller County.

Your editor, being a disbeliever in ghosts and monsters, read with deep approval last week's Associated Press interview with Frank Schambagh, archaeologist of Southern State College, who said of the tracks left by "The Fouke Monster":

"There is a 99 per cent chance the tracks are a hoax."

Not so long ago our own Belev Addition developed a story about "The Mockingbird Lane Monster"—a not-to-be-believed yarn of short life-expectancy. I happened to be in the city police station the night a freckle-faced boy stuck his head in the door and hollered: "Mister, have they found the Mockingbird Lane Monster?" That was the beginning of the end—as laughter set in city-wide.

And well the most gullible of citizens have reason to doubt all monster tales. Usually their origin traces back to some prank played by one human being against his brothers.

Billy Dan Jones, The Star's mechanical "superintendent," recalls the printed account of the expose of "The White River Monster." There was a certain enterprising fisherman who sought to be a monopolist controlling the White muskellongs that furnished shirt-makers with pearl buttons. But he had plenty of competition—until he dreamed up "The Monster" story. That worked for a while. But one night his competitors caught him in the act of moving his mysterious monster-boat from one mooring place to another.

That did the monopolist in, and it was free trade for everyone—until the plastics industry came up with a cheap artificial shirt button and put the entire muskel industry out of business.

Never believe in a "monster" until you have researched the motivation and mechanics of the invention.

Monday's editorial was missing, and for this reason: I didn't get back to town until 1 p.m. Where had I been? "Six Flags," with Circulation Manager Pod Rogers and six of our Circulation supervisors and carriers. We left Hope at 1 p.m. Saturday, spent Saturday and Sunday nights at Arlington, and left Dallas in a rainstorm at 8 a.m. Monday.

The kids had a wonderful time. As for me, I died, and was resurrected just in time to board the station wagon for the return trip Monday morning.

I didn't dream I could walk 11 miles in a day—until "Six Flags." But it won't happen twice.

Group Meets to Talk Over Shortages

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers held a closed meeting Monday with several state department heads to discuss the possibility of electrical and natural gas shortages in the state.

Pat Moran, the chairman of the state Public Service Commission, said the commission will hold hearings some time next week on limiting the promotional activities of the electric and gas utilities.

Decisive House Vote on SS Near

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which already has shown itself closely divided on welfare reform, moved today toward a decisive vote on a $2,400-a-year family income floor.

Supporters of the legislation, backed both by President Nixon and Democratic leaders, turned back the first challenge to the welfare plan Monday on a 200-172 procedural vote.

The margin was considered narrow because the House usually approves almost routinely its Rules Committee's recommendations on how to handle bills.

The effect of Monday's vote was to bar substitutes for or amendments to the bill, at the same time giving opponents one more chance to accept or reject it as a whole.

An administration source said he expects the plan to win by about the same margin. But the opposition, ranging from those who consider the level too low and the work requirements harsh to those disapproving in principle of guaranteed income, has been hard to measure.

Living Costs Jump Highest of the Year

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — May's jump in living costs, biggest of the year, sliced another half a cent off every dollar.

The Nixon administration's hopes to curb inflation received a second jolt Monday when the Labor Department announced claims for unemployment insurance climbed substantially last week.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said consumer prices rose five-tenths of one per cent last month with half of the increase caused by higher prices for apparel, used cars, homes and the rising price of stamps.

It was the sharpest increase in the cost of living since a five-tenths rise last December, and even higher-six-tenths—on

You're Not Young as You Feel, But Just as Old as Others Decide

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you think you are as young as you feel, you're only kidding yourself. What is more often true is this—you're as old as other people decide.

They won't let you stay young.

It isn't simply the passing years that make a man finally and inevitably old. It is the opinion of his friends and critics. It is their collective verdict that thrusts him kicking and screaming into his wheelchair whether he feels ready for it or not.

The world's campaign to make a man old usually begins when he turns 60, and the pressure is stepped up every year thereafter. If you have passed your 60th birthday, here are a few signs to beware:

No matter how bad you feel, everyone assures you that you never looked better.

The boss gives you a token merit raise, but gives to a younger man a bigger merit raise—and the promotion you wanted.

The gang at the office water cooler breaks up when you approach for fear that you will launch into a long-winded reminiscence.

The office gossip of the day reaches you tomorrow.

An ailing coworker turns to you first for help because everyone knows that your desk is stocked with more kinds of

Ministers Offer Deal to Ease Britain Into the Common Market

By CARL HARTMAN

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — The foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations were putting together a package offer today to ease Britain's entry into the European Economic Community.

The European ministers agreed on terms covering Britain's imports of butter and cheese from New Zealand and expected to agree at another meeting today on a sliding scale for Britain's financial contribution to the Market.

Restrictions on Searches Tightened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court in a tough 5-4 decision by Justice Potter Stewart has tightened restrictions on searches, indicating perhaps a difficult time for the Nixon administration's wiretap policies.

A government appeal seeking the unrestrained right to wiretap persons it sees as domestic subversives was granted review Monday shortly before Stewart's ruling cut down the murder conviction of a New Hampshire man.

The Fourth Amendment and its guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizures is central to both cases.

Stewart said Edward H. Coolidge Jr. was entitled to a new trial in the slaying of 14-year-old Pamela Mason of Manchester principally because police had not obtained a warrant from a neutral magistrate to vacuum the suspect's car for evidence.

The decision, which drew heated dissents from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Hugo L. Black and Byron R. White, noted that searches "without prior approval by judge or magistrate, are per se unreasonable under the Fourth Amendment—subject only to a few specifically established and well-delineated exceptions."

The government's wiretap operations are based on the idea that there is an exemption to this rule for national security cases.

This position is associated most with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who declared two weeks ago that "never in our history has this country been confronted with so many revolutionary elements determined to destroy by force the government and the society it stands for."

Stewart, in announcing reversal of Coolidge's conviction and life sentence, said the burden is on those seeking an exemption from the warrant requirement to show the situation was imperative.

"In times of unrest," he went on, "Whether caused by crime or racial conflict or fear of internal subversion, this basic law (the Fourth Amendment) and the values that it represents may appear unrealistic or extravagant to some. But the values were those of the authors of our fundamental constitutional concepts."

Friends profess amazement that you still like to play a little tennis, but then ask, "don't you think it's pretty risky now—at your age?"

Everyone suggests that you should begin to take things easy and not to put any unusual strain on yourself. This makes you wonder now and then if it isn't something of a victory when you cross the street unaided.

Your are not expected by young people to say anything either subtle or important. Your remarks, by their reckoning, are one-third age and two-thirds senile.

What can you do about this insidious aging process by other people? You can do nothing at all about it, not even if you find the fabled Fountain of Youth and take a swig from it 10 times a day.

When the world decides it is high time for you to be old, it usually works its will, whether you are glad or sad about it.

AMA Asked to Third Newspaper Enters Secret Data Dispute as Court Decision Nears

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Nixon today solicited American Medical Association support for his health insurance plan by suggesting one sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would cost $77 billion a year 36 months hence.

Nixon, in an address prepared for the annual AMA convention here, never mentioned the name of the Massachusetts Democrat. However, there was no doubt that Kennedy's insurance proposal was his target.

The President actually had little to say about his own recommendation that employers and employees share health insurance costs while federal money would foot the bill for low-income families.

The AMA, which represents about half the nation's physicians, is cool toward any form of national health insurance.

Nixon, instead, focused on what he portrayed as the shortcomings of the Kennedy plan—principally its cost and, beyond that, his prediction that it would "eventually lead to the complete federal domination of our medical system."

In a reference to the Kennedy recommendations he said:

"I know that it is very easy sometimes to think that the plan that costs the most will help the most—but often the situation is just the opposite. In fact I believe the most expensive plan that has been offered in the current discussion—a plan for nationalized compulsory health insurance—is the plan that would actually do the most to hurt American health care."

If the Kennedy proposal went into operation by July 1, 1973, said Nixon, it would cost the federal government more than $77 billion and would represent nearly 25 per cent of the federal budget "sharply limiting our ability to meet other pressing social problems."

Nixon said present federal health programs, if continued, "would cost the average household in America an estimated $405 per year" by the month period beginning in mid-1973. He went on:

"Under my plan that would increase to $466. But under nationalized health insurance the average household's federal tax bill for health programs alone would be tripled to $1,271 per year."

Man Sought in Slayings at Springdale

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Springdale police confirmed today they were searching for Daniel L. Graham, about 33, for questioning in connection with the robbery Friday night of a local supermarket and the slaying of two employees.

In a prepared statement today, Springdale police said an intensive search was being conducted west of Tontitown in Washington County.

Police said surveillance roadblocks were still up in Northwest Arkansas. Officers said no car was being stopped, but that officers were checking all passing vehicles.

Graham is described as being 6-feet tall, weighing 180, with brown hair and blue eyes.

School Issues May Conform

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge J. Smith Henley said Monday that Little Rock's secondary school desegregation plan appeared to meet most of federal guidelines concerning school desegregation.

However, Henley said there was an exception to his statement in the zoning of the Dunbar-Gibbs School. Under the plan the school would function as a middle school and would remain predominately black.

He told the attorney for the Little Rock School Board to have the plan amended for the Dunbar-Gibbs School.

Child Killed by a Truck

HARDY, Ark. (AP) — Dena Kay Evans, 4, of Hardy was killed Monday when she was struck by a car in Hardy.

State Police said she ran into a street between two parked cars into the path of a car driven by Dorothy L. Liggett, 61, of Cherokee Village.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boston Globe printed today what it said were excerpts from a Pentagon study on the Vietnam war. It includes a report on a high-level meeting at which a top U.S. officer demanded that commanders be given the freedom to use tactical nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

The report, taken from the 47-volume Pentagon study of the war, said that at a meeting of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Honolulu in June 1964 Adm. Harry D. Felt, then commander of the Pacific forces, demanded the option to use nuclear weapons "as had been assumed under various plans."

There was no mention of the various plans.

The Globe is the third U.S. newspaper to publish excerpts from the massive Pentagon study detailing American involvement in Vietnam.

Also present at the JCS Honolulu meeting were Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara; Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and John McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The discussion about the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam arose, the Globe said, on the question of whether the Chinese Communist forces would enter the war.

"Secretary McNamara then went on to say that the possibility of major ground action also led to a series of questions having to do with nuclear weapons at some point," the Globe quotes the report.

Charges against a third, Marquis Halbert, 34, were dismissed for insufficient evidence.

Jack Pakis, 50, was fined $100 and given a 30-day suspended sentence for keeping a gaming device. He was fined an additional $25 on charges of betting on a horse race.

Ernest Simms Jr. was fined $25 for betting on a horse race. Weldon Brawner, 48, will be tried Thursday.

Full Court Panel for Times Case

NEW YORK (AP) — With all eight judges sitting because of the "extraordinary importance" of the issue, the federal appeals court here today considers the government's move to halt The New York Times' publication of classified Pentagon papers.

A judge panel from the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals extended a restraining order against The Times today to allow the full court to hear what the newspaper called "a unique case in the history of the nation."

Chief Judge Henry J. Friendly said that all the members had conferred by telephone over the weekend and were "in accord in their belief that this appeal raised questions of such extraordinary importance that it should be heard by all the judges."

The Times printed three installments of a series based on the Pentagon's 47-volume study of the origins and escalation of the Vietnam war, but the series was halted a week ago by the restraining order pending the outcome of the government suit.

Last Saturday, U.S. District Court Judge Murray I. Gurfein turned down the government's request for a preliminary injunction barring The Times from publishing further articles based on the classified documents but the government appealed to the circuit court.

Normally the appellate court here consists of nine judges, but currently there is a vacancy. Should the panel split 4-4 on a decision, Gurfein's ruling would stand and The Times would be free to resume publication, barring intervention by the Supreme Court.

In a similar case involving The Washington Post, U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled Monday that the newspaper could go ahead with its series based on the same Pentagon study but the appeals court quickly ordered a stay.

The Post began publication of the study where The Times left off and was halted by a restraining order after two installments. Today the Boston Globe printed new portions of the study.

Two Killed in Accidents

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — State Police said three persons were killed on U.S. 64, two miles west of here Monday afternoon.

The victims were identified as Lowell Withingham, 36, of Cecil (Franklin County) and Floyd Witham, 75, and Sally Muffett, 69, both of West Palm Beach, Fla.

At the same time, a similar full bench of the U.S. Circuit Court in New York was to hear a government appeal from a similar ruling involving The New York Times.

Departing from Adams Field, Little Rock, Sunday to attend the National Student Council Convention in Burlington, Vermont were Mrs. W.A. Williams, advisor for the Hope High School Student Council, Sandra McFarland, Tim White, voting delegate to the convention, Melissa Mohon, Tommy Frazier, president of the Hope Council and Bill Davis, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W.A. # Would Probe Lockheed's Bank Deals

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader has urged the Senate Banking Committee to investigate the "clubby atmosphere" he says surrounds troubled Lockheed Aircraft, its banks and its airline customers.

Nader and an aide, James Welch, told the committee Monday nearly half the 24 banks which have loaned Lockheed $400 million are tied to one another.

In answer to a question by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., however, Welch said the interlocks are not necessarily improper as such.

The Nixon administration has requested $250 in federal loan guarantees for Lockheed. Welch said before that is approved the committee should see if the interlocks forced the firm's L1011 TriStar Airbus on a market he said already is overcrowded.

The bankruptcy of England's Rolls Royce, Ltd., which is making TriStar's engines, has delayed delivery of the first planes from this fall to next summer, adding to Lockheed's other financial woes.

The committee, which invited an earlier witness for the International Association of Machinists to give additional testimony today, appears to be nearing the end of its hearings on the guarantees Lockheed, the nation's No. 1 defense contractor, says it needs to survive.

Welch said a study he did of Lockheed's relationship with its bankers and the airlines which have ordered TriStars showed what he believes to be "only the tip of the iceberg."

The study, he said, showed Lockheed directors were members of the board of four banks which have loaned Lockheed money: Trust Co. of Georgia, Security Pacific, Girard Trust and United California.

In addition, said Welch, four sets of banks had interlocking directorships among themselves. He said these exist between Trust Co. of Georgia and Morgan Guaranty Trust; Morgan Guaranty and Chemical Bank of New York; Chemical Bank of New York, Chemical and Chase Manhattan, and Chase and First National City of Chicago.

Eleven of the banks which have loaned Lockheed money for the TriStar also have loaned money to one or more of Lockheed's principal airline customers—Delta, Eastern and TWA.

Enemy Hits Besieged Vietnamese

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces, repulsed in an early morning ground attack, hit a besieged South Vietnamese artillery base just south of the demilitarized zone with a heavy mortar barrage Monday night.

Field reports said more than 300 mortar rounds hit Firebase Fuller, atop an 1,800-foot mountain four miles south of the DMZ. A spokesman said casualties among the defenders were light, with none killed.

Two American bases along the southern edge of the buffer zone also came under attack, but no casualties were reported.

The attacks resulted from a dry season buildup of North Vietnamese forces just south of the DMZ that Vietnamese officers at Firebase Fuller say has come later than usual this year because of the disruptive effect on the enemy of the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos last February.

Fuller has been the target of heavy intermittent shelling since Saturday. Officers at the base say it is surrounded by at least a battalion of enemy troops.

U.S. B52s and other aircraft are being used against the invaders around the base, and one field report said 10 secondary explosions were touched off by an AC119 gunship. The explosions appeared to be from gasoline rather than ammunition, and officers speculated that it was to be used in flamethrowers.

Elsewhere in Vietnam, at least 90 of the enemy were reported killed in scattered fighting. But in the Mekong Delta the Viet Cong attacked a village then ambushed a relief force, and 17 militiamen were reported killed, 16 were wounded and three were missing.

The U.S. Navy reported the loss of two planes and four crewmen in the Tonkin Gulf and said it was not known what caused the crashes.

The Navy said an F8 Crusader jet crashed into the sea Monday morning as it made a landing approach to the carrier Oriskany. The pilot was unable to eject, and rescue operations by helicopters and the destroyer Bradley failed to recover him.

The other plane was an A3 Skywarrior jet tanker that also was operating from the Oriskany. It crashed into the sea last Friday, and the three crewmen were lost.

The Navy said neither crash was due to enemy fire.

In Cambodia, 5,000 Cambodian troops trying to clear North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces out of the Vihear Suor marshes east of Phnom Penh were reported moving "very, very slowly" because of determined enemy resistance and the difficult terrain.

Decorated Officer Is Disgusted

SAIGON (AP) — A much-decorated U.S. Army colonel, quitting in disgust, has blasted the South Vietnamese army, the way the Americans trained it and the Vietnamization program.

"If we were going to get involved, and I think we never should have," said Col. David H. Hackworth, "we would have come over and organized the South Vietnamese army into a guerrilla posture, instead of as a direct reflection of the U.S. corps with its divisions and all that junk ..."

Hackworth, who was wounded four times in Korea and four more times in 5½ years in Vietnam, said in a wide-ranging interview he found a great difference between the Saigon government's troops and their Vietnamese adversaries.

The North Vietnamese or Viet Cong soldiers are "properly prepared for war," said Hackworth. "Most of their training is on political indoctrination, which results in a highly motivated soldier who really believes in what he's doing." By comparison, he continued, "these jokers in the South Vietnamese army are motivated by a new Honda, a Rolex watch, a refrigerator or a fan, or how many goodies you can get them from the PX. That's it—not, 'Goddam, we're going to win this thing because it's important.'"

Hackworth called Vietnamization, the Nixon administration's plan of turning the fighting over to the South Vietnamese so U.S. combat troops can pull out, "A public relations man's dream, from some guy on Madison Avenue."

"I just don't see the improvement that everybody else sees," he said. "Maybe I am just too close to the trees and can't see the forest. I think it's cosmetic surgery, and the people who are way out there making all those broad statements don't know what's going on." Hackworth, who lied about his age and enlisted when he was 15, has served for 25 years and is in an excellent position to make general. But he said he's quitting because he's just disgusted with the Army in Vietnam, an Army he said was commanded by "amateurs, these ticket-punchers, who run in for six months a year, and don't even know what the hell it's all about."

The United States had all the assets to win the war, he said, but failed because it tried to fight a guerrilla war with conventional tactics.

As the ministers worked late Monday night, Britain's Prince Philip injected the monarchy into the bitter dispute in Britain over joining the Common Market. Queen Elizabeth's outspoken husband said in a speech in Edinburgh that the Market's farm policies were in "a most frightful mess."

A British spokesman said the proposal for imports from New Zealand was "not entirely satisfactory," but French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann was adamant.

"There is no question whatever of resuming discussions on this text," he said. "It was approved unanimously and it is our last word."

The proposal provides for duty-free imports of New Zealand's dairy products to continue for a five-year transitional period, but with a gradual decrease to 66 per cent of the current levels by 1978. No cheese guarantee would be extended after 1978, and a unanimous decision by the ministers would be necessary to continue the butter quota unchanged.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMY W. FRY

On June 11 Miss Cecilia Beth Delaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Delaney, became the bride of Jimmy Wayne Fry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fry of Fulton, in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Joe Jones performed the candlelight ceremony at 8 p.m., and Luther Hollamon, organist, gave the setting an appropriate musical background. The double-ring vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with yellow and white daisies, white stocks and burning tapers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of white lace designed with long sleeves and a v-neckline. The wide collar was trimmed with lace. A white pillbox held her shoulder-length veil in place. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Carla Delaney served her sister as maid of honor. Attired in yellow summer cotton with long sleeves, she had a large white hat and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

Terry Fry of Fulton was his brother's best man. Jack Faulkner ushered.

The fellowship hall of the church was the scene for a reception following the wedding. Daisies and feverfew decorated the table where Mrs. Jack Faulkner of Hope and Mrs. Ramage Aylett of Nashville served the cake and punch. Mrs. Eddie Fry presided at the bride's book. Assisting in the house

Urge Alternate School Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Attorneys for the North Little Rock School Board attacked the board's alternative plan and urged Federal Judge J. Smith Henley to accept the board's original plan which would "pair" four schools.

Henley had instructed the board to prepare an alternate plan to their original plan and the board complied.

Officials of the school district said that the second plan would be too expensive to implement, because it called for busing over 2,000 elementary students.

Wants "Open" Olympics

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Mod, revolutionary AAU President Jack Kelly is advocating an "open" Olympic Games matching the world's premier athletes ... pro and amateur.

"When eight 100-meter sprinters line up for the Olympic finals," he said, "there's no reason it shouldn't be the fastest eight humans ... regardless of their daily jobs."

Kelly, handsome older brother of Monaco's Princess Grace, was elected Amateur Athletic Union chief last year and is willing to take shots at his own organization as well as other members of the sports establishment.

"Avery Brundage," he said, turning to the aging head of the International Olympic Committee, "may be the world's only simon pure amateur. His committee is made up of self-perpetuating old men."

Kelly agrees with many United States athletic leaders that Yank chances in the Olympics suffer since the nation generally adheres to amateurism while socialist nations subsidize programs.

"If America's fastest runner happens to be a cornerback for the Philadelphia Eagles," he said, "then I think he should be in the starting blocks at the Olympics."

Bending a mite, the slick-haired Philadelphian—a four-time Olympic rower—said that "at the least, an athlete who is a professional in one sport should still be able to compete as an amateur in another."

Such a ruling would clear the road for sprinters such as Bob Hayes to run in the Olympics even though he has been handsomely paid to play football for the Dallas Cowboys.

Kelly said that an "open" Olympics would "help to eliminate cheating and under-the-table dealings, much the way an open format has done for tennis."

Many of the amateur sports regulations, he said, "were established in Queen Victoria's time when athletes were generally considered to be a low class of people. My father was once denied a chance to sail in the Henley Regatta because he carried the union card of a bricklayer."

Upset Victory at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "You never give up at Wimbledon," said Tom Gorman, the 23-year-old Seattle, Wash., tennis star who came back from the edge of defeat to become the first hero of the 1971 All-England Championships.

Gorman told how he knocked out eighth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa after trailing by two sets and then having a match point against him in the final set.

"I thought it was going to be a short Wimbledon for me," Gorman said. "But if you give up at Wimbledon you might as well not come here at all."

The American won 2-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

It was his second upset victory in less than a week. At the warm-up event at London's Queen's Club he defeated Australia's Rod Laver, four times Wimbledon champion.

The tournament started in cold, blustery winds and on turf left soft and treacherous by recent heavy rain.

Pittsburgh Whips Mets; 6-0 Score

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell isn't one to put a face before a figure—at least not on a baseball scoreboard.

Stargell, pleased with the new likeness of him which appears on the electronic scoreboard at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, socked his 25th home run of the season Monday night as the Pirates widened their National League East Division lead by whipping the second-place New York Mets 6-0.

Stargell's statistics continue to mount. He leads the majors in homers and runs batted in, with 67, and is hitting a solid .311.

In other NL games, rookie Bobby O'Brien outpitched returning veteran Bob Gibson as Los Angeles trimmed St. Louis 4-0; Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 5-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta split a double-header with Montreal, winning 6-4 before a 5-3 loss.

After the twin bill, the Braves released 47-year-old reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, the all-time leader in pitching appearances with 1,045 in 20 major league seasons.

In the American League, Baltimore's Dock Ellis stymied the Mets on eight scattered hits to reel off his ninth straight victory and become the National League's biggest winner with an 11-3 mark.

The Pirates led 3-0 in the fifth inning when Stargell unloaded against left-hander Jerry Koosman, the Mets' starter.

Pittsburgh's Bob Robertson set a major league record for first baseman with eight assists.

O'Brien, making his first start in the majors after nine relief stints, shackled the Cardinals on six hits. Gibson, back on the mound for the first time since May 29, when he went on the disabled list with arm trouble, was clipped for three runs and six hits before laying for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Willie Davis drilled a single, double and his third homer to drive in two Los Angeles runs. Willie Crawford had two singles and a triple and Richie Allen a two-run single for the Dodgers.

Willie Montanez' two-run triple in the 12th carried the Phillies past the Reds, handing winless Jim Merritt his ninth setback of the season.

Pete Rose homered for the Reds, who led 3-0 before five consecutive Philadelphia singles produced three runs in the eighth.

Hank Aaron belted his 20th home run and Mike Lum, Hal King and Darrell Evans also homered in an eighth inning barrage that brought Atlanta from behind in its opener against the Expos.

Montreal fought back to gain a split when Ron Hunt doubled home the last two of three eighth inning runs.

The Braves announced they had given Wilhelm his unconditional release, recalled two young players from their Richmond farm club and traded utility infielder Marv Stahley to Hawaii for two minor leaguers.

Wilhelm, on the disabled list most of this season with a sore arm, had no record in three relief appearances.

Oakland 3-2 Over Minnesota

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vida Blue is go for a 30-game blastoff, but he's not really counting.

The sensational Oakland outfielder won his 15th game of the season Monday night, setting down Minnesota 3-2 with a 13-strikeout performance that increased the A's American League West lead to eight games over second place Kansas City. The Royals lost 5-1 to Chicago.

Elsewhere in the AL Monday night, Baltimore ripped Washington 7-2 and Milwaukee nipped California 3-2 in 10 innings. Boston and Cleveland were rained out and the other teams were not scheduled.

In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked New York 6-0, Philadelphia trimmed Cincinnati 5-3 in 12 innings, Atlanta split a doubleheader with Montreal, winning the first game 6-4 and losing the second 5-3, and Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 4-0.

Blue's workmanlike job on the Twins moved him halfway to 30 victories, a fact that doesn't impress the cool youngster.

"At the end of the season," he said, "we'll see what I've got. Whatever it is, I'll be satisfied."

What Blue's got right now is a major league leading 146 strikeouts, 15 complete games in 19 starts and a 15-2 record. He allowed just seven hits against Minnesota, but only one after the fifth inning.

The Twins nipped Oakland's ace for three hits and both their runs in the third inning, giving rookie Ray Corbin a 2-1 lead. The A's tied it on Mike Epstein's double and singles by Sal Bando and Dave Duncan in the sixth and then scored the deciding run in the seventh when Minnesota catcher George Mitterwald threw wild on a delayed double steal.

The last man to win 30 games was Denny McLain in 1968 and the controversial right-hander could reach 30 again this season, but on the wrong side of the ledger.

Washington's McLain lost his eighth straight and 13th in 17 decisions as Baltimore belted him for 16 hits and whacked the Senators.

Boog Powell, who was batting .178 before the game, cracked three singles and a double and drove in three runs for the Orioles. Paul Blair also had four hits and drove in one run and Frank Robinson knocked in three with two hits for the Birds, who lead the AL East by 5½ games over idle Detroit.

Mike Andrews raced home all the way from second on a strikeout for the tie-breaking run and Chicago went on to whip Kansas City behind Tommy John.

Andrews walked in the second and moved up on an infield out. When the third strike on Luis Alvarado got past catcher Jerry May, Andrews took off and scored as May threw Alvarado out at first base. Andrews later doubled home another Chicago run in the eighth.

Roberto Pena tied the game with a ninth inning single and then drove in Milwaukee's winning run in the 10th with another hit as the Brewers topped California.

Milwaukee, held to a scratch single for eight innings by Rudy May, rallied to tie the game in the ninth on singles by Tommy Harper and Pena sandwiched around Gus Gil's sacrifice. After California reliever Dave Laroche walked the bases loaded in the 10th, Pena drilled his game-winning single.

Ray Fosse Ahead in All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray Fosse of Cleveland has caught—and passed—Bill Freehan of Detroit for catcher of the American League All-Star team.

Fosse, who had trailed from the beginning of the vote, now leads Freehan 169,743 to 157,158, according to figures released Monday by the office of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of Boston continues as the leading vote getter, with 350,046.

Balloting by the fans ends June 30, with the game between

The Scholar-Athlete award is named for AIC Commissioner Emeritus Cliff Shaw.

High Jump Champ Signs With U of A

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bill Garrett of Girard, Kan., the Kansas state high jump champion, has signed a track letter of intent with the Arkansas Razorbacks.

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER, Fla. — Mike Huckabee, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Huckabee, 509 E. Second Street, Hope, Arkansas, this week joined 70 other young men from the United States and other nations in the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Space Seminar at the Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

Mike, a student at Hope High School, was selected his state's winner in a national contest sponsored by the Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of Student Councils and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Nearly two million boys applied in the competition which was open to all sophomores attending more than 10,000 high schools.

Mike, and the 70 other youngsters, one from each state plus ten foreign boys and ten special guests, including a group from the Boys Club of America, were involved in an intensive week-long session dealing with every phase of the national space program.

3 Officers to Testify in Medina Case

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP)

Three high-ranking Army officers are still to testify in the pretrial hearing of Capt. Ernest L. Medina, as defense lawyers seek to prove that command influence kept Medina from testifying in other My Lai trials.

The witnesses yet to be called are Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commanding general of Ft. McPherson; Col. Wilson Freeman, staff judge advocate here, where the charges were filed; and Col. James Mobley, the investigating officer.

Command influence refers to an effort by superior military officers, through the Army chain of command or by weight of rank, to influence the outcome of the military judicial process.

Aubrey M. Daniel III, the Army prosecutor in the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., testified Monday that he had received a written order forbidding him from calling Medina as a witness in the Calley trial.

Daniel said high-ranking officers decided it would be inconsistent for the Army to use Medina to convict Calley and then to prosecute Medina on similar charges. The 34-year-old Medina, of Montrose, Colo., is charged with murdering 102 villagers at My Lai and assaulting another.

The former prosecutor testified that the order not to call Medina came from Col. Robert Lathrop, staff judge advocate at Ft. Benning, where Calley's trial was held. Calley was convicted of murdering 22 Vietnamese villagers.

Daniel said that during the Christmas recess of the Calley trial he went to the Pentagon for a meeting with 3rd Army officials as well as representatives of the judge advocate general's office.

The purpose of the meeting, Daniel said, was to discuss whether or not to call Medina as a witness.

He said no decision was made at the meeting, but that it was clear the 3rd Army representatives were against allowing Medina to testify for the government in the Calley case.

Earlier Monday, Maj. William G. Eckhardt, the prosecutor in the Medina case and one of the 3rd Army represen-

Hairdo Brings Another Court Discussion

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arthur Anderson Jr., 26, a deputy prosecutor, is sporting a "summer" haircut, but he insists that his new looks are not connected to remarks by Jacksonville Municipal Judge Reed Wilkinson.

Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker said Monday he had discussed Anderson's hair with Williamson, but he said he could not remember the exact words of the conversation.

Tucker said that Williamson had indicated that Anderson was not to return to his court until he had a haircut.

Sometime in May, Anderson appeared in Williamson's court with longish hair, over the collar of his shirt. His appearance prompted the judge's remark and Anderson has not been back to his court.

"If any prosecutor or lawyer attends this court, inasmuch as he is an officer of the court he should show proper respect by wearing a conventional hairdo and conventional attire," Judge Williamson said.

tatives at the Pentagon meeting, testified he argued against allowing Medina to testify at Calley's trial.

Eckhardt said he feared Medina might use his appearance in the Calley trial to block his own prosecution on charges of murder.

He said he thought Medina's testimony was not necessary to the Calley prosecution because even if Medina had ordered a massacre, the order would have been "patently illegal."

Sgt. Charles La Croix of Ft. Carson, Colo., a former member of Charlie Company, was the first witness Monday. He testified that high-ranking Army officers threatened to charge him with crimes at My Lai unless he turned state's evidence against Medina.

Mahler Is Aiming for Pocono Win

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
MT. PCONO, Pa. (AP)

John Mahler's Cinderella story in auto racing—it began at Indianapolis a month ago where he drove faster than any rookie in the speedway's history—has come to full flower in the Pocono Mountains.

Mahler, a cigar-smoking 34-year-old from Bettendorf, Iowa, arrived at the new Pocono International Raceway Monday with a new McLaren racer, a full crew, a noted chief mechanic and money in his pocket.

He's aiming for a high-up spot in the 33-car field that will start the $400,000 Schaefer 500 on July 3, and more than likely he will get it.

Mahler was strictly a "who's he" when he arrived at the Indy from the sports car circuit in early May. He was broke, without a ride and without prospects for one. That is, until he ran into Dick Simon.

Simon, the courtly Salt Lake City driver-businessman took an interest in Mahler and agreed to let the long-haired rookie take his pre-entry tests in one of his Travelodge Sepcials.

Later in the month, Simon also agreed to let the Iowa qualify one of the cars for the race. It was the worst decision Simon has made in racing, and Mahler's best.

The Iowan, with only minor experience in championship cars, surprised even himself by qualifying at 170.164 miles per hour—best of any rookie ever at the Speedway—and, in effect, helped bump Simon from the lineup.

The next day Simon bumped Mahler from the car, saying his contract with Travelodge required him to drive the machine. Mahler spent race day working in Simon's pit. The car managed a 14th place finish and $18,870.

Mahler admits he came out of the Indianapolis "dispair" smelling like a rose. He wound up with two sympathetic sponsors and enough money to buy the McLaren racer that Pete Revson drove in the inaugural California 500 last year.

Along with it, he purchased two new turbocharged Offenhauser engines, all the spare parts that were available, and a transporter to take the car from race to race.

His chief mechanic will be Louis Unser, older brother of drivers Al and Bobby Unser, and considered one of the best "wrench men" in racing.

Wilhelm Dropped by Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm, the ageless knuckleball reliever who has spent more than half his life in organized baseball says, "I think I can pitch if I just get a chance. I haven't had a chance to pitch here this year."

Wilhelm, who will celebrate his 48th birthday July 26, was given his unconditional release Monday night in a surprise move by the Atlanta Braves.

"No, I had no idea this was going to happen," said Wilhelm. "That's the way they do. They don't give a damn. I don't have any plans right now," added Wilhelm, who holds the major league record for pitching appearances at 1,045. "I'll go back home (Columbus, Ga.) and see if I can catch on with another club for the rest of the year."

The Braves, who have lost nine of their last 13 games and are mired in fifth place 15 games behind in the National League West, made no moves prior to the June 15 trade deadline.

The Wilhelm announcement Monday night following a doubleheader with Montreal involved five other players. The Braves said outfielder Oscar Brown and reliever Tom House are being called up immediately from their International League farm club at Richmond.

Utility infielder Marv Staehle was traded to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League for pitcher Jack DiLauro and first baseman-outfielder Hank McGraw. DiLauro, who has pitched for Houston and the New York Mets, will be assigned to Richmond.

Wilhelm began his baseball career with Mooresville in the North Carolina State League in 1942 and after three years military service during World War II he worked his way to the

Dundee Sides With Ellis

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Angelo Dundee is former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali's trainer and Jimmy Ellis' manager but he'll be in Ellis' corner July 26 in the Astro-dome when the two fighters meet in a 12-round bout.

Dundee pushes aside any thought that he is the man in the middle because he is involved with both fighters.

"There was nothing to think over," said Dundee. "I am Jimmy's manager and Ali's trainer and I'll be in Jimmy's corner."

Will he work with Ali in later fights? "I can't say that," Dundee said. "That will be decided after this fight. I only worry about one thing at a time."

"Nobody's putting Ali down," Dundee said here Monday. "He's a fine gentleman and I regard him highly," Dundee said. "We'll prove with this fight what three and one-half years has done to Ali."

Dundee said Ellis was in the best shape of his life. "If he had this kind of build up before the Joe Frazier fight, he would have won," Dundee said. Ellis lost his World Boxing Association title to Frazier.

Both Ellis and Ali were at the Astro-dome with Dundee and traded verbal blasts in which Ali showed flashes of his earlier brash image. He even composed a poem on the spot and read it to Ellis.

Both fighters acknowledged the man they really were pointing for was Joe Frazier. Ellis said the quickest way to a title shot with Frazier would be a victory over Ali.

And Ali closed his poem with: "But it will be ready July 26, because Joe Frazier is the one I am out to fix."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Can you explain to me what a lipoprotein is? My husband had a special blood test and his doctor said he had increased lipoproteins. Has this anything to do with cholesterol and what should he do about it?

Dear Reader—Lipo means fatlike. Fats don't exist in significant quantities in normal people in the blood except in combination with a protein. Fatty acids in the blood combine with glycerol to form a tripart particle called a triglyceride. Glycerol is actually an alcohol and chemically combines with three fatty acids. This is where the "tri" comes in. Words in chemistry, like medicine and most disciplines, are really definitions. The ending "ide" designates a salt—hence you have sodium chloride, ordinary table salt from hydrochloric acid and sodium. The triglyceride technically is a salt from organic fatty acids and glycerol. The fatty acids can be unsaturated (lacking in hydrogen atoms) or saturated (fully loaded with hydrogen) and they can have long carbon chains or short ones.

The triglyceride (tripart particle) combines with varying amounts of cholesterol and both are transported together in combination with a blood protein, combination being called a "lipoprotein."

A lipoprotein can be large or small, depending in part on the length of the carbon chain of the fatty acids. Some scientists think the large lipoproteins are more often associated with atherosclerosis or are more apt to "get stuck" in the walls of the arteries. So lipoproteins are classified in various ways related to their size. Women tend to have smaller lipoproteins than men and this is advanced as one reason why they have a lower rate of heart attacks before they have the change of life. They also have lower blood cholesterol levels.

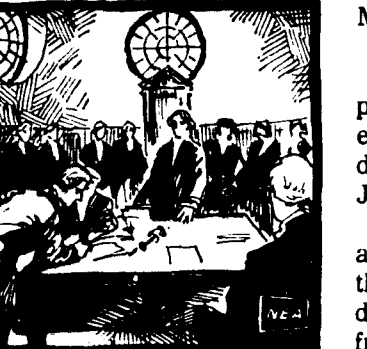

The cholesterol in the bloodstream is only part of the lipoprotein. Even so, chemically extracting the cholesterol from the blood and measuring its quantity has proved to be a good index of increased risk for heart attacks.

A major portion of the cholesterol is manufactured by the liver and part of it comes from cholesterol in the diet, like lots of egg yolks. A person eating two egg yolks a day will increase the cholesterol level 15 points.

What causes the body to form too much cholesterol? There is some disagreement about this, but one factor is too many calories from too much fatty food. Large scale studies of people have proved that the blood cholesterol measurements provide about as much information as you can get from the most fancy measurements of the size of lipoproteins or triglycerides or other fractions of the fat and fatlike substances in the blood. Your husband then should restrict his fat intake, eliminate any obesity he may have and stop smoking, if he smokes. If he doesn't exercise, get started on a sensible program.

There are all sorts of lead directing doubles. Perhaps the newest one is the Lazard double invented by Sidney Lazard of New Orleans for use against a no-trump game contract where your partner must make a blind lead. The Lazard double tells partner to open hearts.

It is new in contract, but if you were to go back to 1904 you would find this double suggested by J. B. Elwell in his book entitled "Advanced Bridge."

This book was on the game of "Bridge" and the Elwell bid called "The American Convention" disappeared when auction bridge made its debut around 1908.

Today's hand shows the Lazard double in operation. North's two-club response is Stayman and South bids two spades to show his four-card suit. North jumps to three no-trump and East doubles in spite of the fact North probably holds four hearts.

Without a heart lead, South will make at least three no-trump. The heart lead sets him two tricks.

Why did Sidney decide that the Lazard double should call for a heart lead? No particular reason. You can't have everything.

Couldn't East bid two hearts and insure a heart lead? Certainly, but if he did bid two hearts South would pass; North would double and set East two to three tricks.

Orders Probe of Officer in Slaying Case

AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has ordered a grand jury-type investigation in the case of Brig. Gen. John W. Donaldson, accused of slaying six Vietnamese civilians, to determine if there is sufficient evidence for a court-martial.

Specification of charges will be read to Donaldson in a closed hearing Thursday at Ft. Meade, Md., the Army said Monday.

Donaldson is the highest-ranking officer to be accused of murdering civilians in the Indochina war and the first U.S. general in 70 years to be charged with a war crime.

Helicopter pilots allege he shot the civilians on the ground in Quang Ngai Province while flying over them in a helicopter between November 1968 and January 1969 while he commanded the Americal Division's 11th Infantry Brigade.

The 47-year-old West Point graduate, until recently a top planner for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, also is charged with assaulting another Vietnamese civilian.

In announcing the Article 32 hearing, the military's equivalent of a grand jury investigation, the Army said a second assault charge had been dismissed by Lt. Gen. Claire Hutchin who "determined upon evaluating the evidence that no further proceedings on this specification were warranted."

Hutchin ordered an Article 32 investigation also for Lt. Col. William J. McCloskey, 39, Wilkes Barre, Pa., who is charged with murdering two Vietnamese civilians in March 1969. The Army has said the two cases are not related. McCloskey was Donaldson's operations officer in Vietnam.

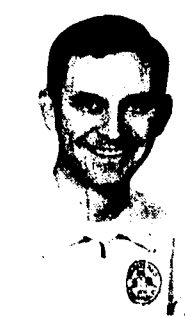

No hearing date has been set for McCloskey.

The hearings will give both officers the first chance to tell their side of the story. So far, all the evidence has come from Army detectives investigating the pilots' allegations.

Between 80 and 90 witnesses are expected to be called to testify in Donaldson's case, military sources said.

Donaldson's civilian attorney, Benjamin Dorsey of Washington, D.C., said he will ask the chief investigating officer to give him all the Army's evidence as well as a continuance before trial. "I've got to have time to prepare my case," Dorsey said.

According to a medical researcher in London, Ontario, smokers apparently need more anesthetic during major surgery than non-smokers.

A Greek named Alexander of Tralles (A.D. 525-605) wrote prescriptions and was the first to recommend the use of rhubarb.

Health tip: never take a medicine in the dark; which means, never take a medicine without reading the label.

Scientists at a laboratory in the state of Washington have found that Vitamin E in the diet may offer some protection against respiratory diseases caused by air pollution.

How often should a healthy person give blood? No more frequently than every eight weeks, say experts, with a maximum of five times per year.

Thousands Hope Festival Is Still on

By G. MICHAEL HARMON

Associated Press Writer
MCCREA, La. (AP) — Thousands of rock fans camped along miles of country roads near here awaited word today on whether the sheer weight of their presence had saved the "Celebration of Life" rock festival.

They clogged this rural area with an impromptu roadside party while awaiting the final outcome of a legal fight in Baton Rouge, 40 miles to the south-east, over efforts to block the million dollar show.

Predicting compromise agreement due to complications posed by the crowd besieging the meadowland leased for the festival site, promoters tentatively reset the start of the week-long event for sundown Wednesday.

"I hope that's right," said Gen. David Wade, head of the Louisiana National Guard, after a helicopter visit to the scene.

"It would be mighty hard to stop something that already is happening."

Some state police estimates of the crowd ranged up to 100,000 but Wade said it was impossible to make anything like an accurate count.

In Baton Rouge, the promoters and officials of Pointe Coupee Parish county and state Health Department officials report back before U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West today.

West had ordered promoters and officials to confer over whether the festival could meet sanitary standards. "They have a right to a permit if they comply," he said. He made no ruling.

The site leased for the festival is 700 acres of pasture beside the Atchafalaya River. Roads leading to the area were choked with cars, trucks and vans.

Police barricades, set up after the parish governing body passed an emergency ordinance Saturday banning the festival, backed up the crowd.

At one point festival promoters, who had said they would limit the number of $28 ticket holders to 60,000, announced that the event was cancelled. Then, heartened by the ever growing crowd, they carried the fight on from state court to federal court.

A 60-man state police force at the scene was augmented by deputies from Pointe Coupee Parish and neighboring parishes, with some city police from Baton Rouge.

National Guard officials said Monday a 150-man detachment of the Guard at nearby New Roads was ordered on "standby alert."

The festival site remained largely unpopulated due to the police barriers.

Idle workmen awaited word on whether to resume setting up outdoor toilets, drilling water wells and erecting the big performing stage tent hospital was in operation, staffed by a physician and a nurse.

Regulations to Encourage Oil Exploration

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — The Interstate Oil Compact Commission is expected to adopt a resolution today calling for a new federal regulations to encourage expansion of U.S. oil and gas exploration.

A proposal calling for such a resolution was approved without dissent Monday by the commission's Committee on Energy Resources.

Much of Monday's business, opening day of the two-day mid-year meeting, was devoted to committee discussions of environmental problems.

Roy D. Payne, representing the Texas Railroad Commission, said the public views oil pollution as the fault of the oil industry as a whole rather than of individual companies.

"Any oil spill, whether it be major or small, the reaction from conservation groups is always quick in anti-oil cries and charges made among oil industry," he said.

Nearly 300 persons representing 33 oil producing states are registered for the meeting, including North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy and Wyoming Gov. Stan Hathaway.

Claims RFK Asked Vietnam Overthrow

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. says secret papers show Robert F. Kennedy suggested during a State Department-Pentagon clash on overthrowing Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963 that America pull out of Vietnam.

In the end, the California Republican said Monday, the United States "encouraged and authorized" the military coup in which Diem was killed, as U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge met with Diem while U.S. officials and coup leaders worked to overthrow him.

"It was an incredible case of duplicity on the part of the State Department," McCloskey told newsmen.

He said he will try Wednesday to put the papers, which he said he assumes are working papers for the secret Pentagon study on Vietnam policy, on the public record at a House hearing on security classifications.

Meanwhile, Reps. John E. Moss and D-Calif., chief architect of the Freedom of Information Act, and Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., announced they will file suit against Security of Defense Melvin R. Laird for release of the 47-volume Pentagon study.

The government is trying to block further publication of newspaper series on the document, "History of the U.S. Decision Making Process on Vietnam Policy," already started by The New York Times and The Washington Post.

McCloskey said the papers he has show Robert F. Kennedy as the only ranking U.S. official indicating reservations on escalation of the war.

The papers cover tenures of former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy's reservations came, McCloskey said, when the State Department was arguing that the United States could not save South Vietnam with Diem in power and the Pentagon arguing Diem was needed to rally South Vietnam.

"Kennedy said if we can't win with Diem and we can't win without him then why don't we disengage," McCloskey said. The papers leave no question, McCloskey said, that U.S. officials in Saigon were working with coup leaders.

The congressman said last week professor Daniel Ellsberg, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology researcher who worked on the Pentagon study, had given him some papers.

But he said Monday he would take precautions not to identify the source in trying to make public the papers in which Kennedy was mentioned.

He also said he is not sure what his papers are. He said they are not the same kind of papers The New York Times and The Washington Post started to publish, but are clearly related to the Pentagon study.

McCloskey said he notified Laird Monday he plans to try to put his papers on record.

British Say Defector Not Important

By RODNEY PINDER

Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Some British security authorities said today that Soviet defector Anatoly Fedoseyev is a comparatively unimportant electronics engineer and not the key space scientist he was reported to be.

Other sources said Fedoseyev was an important Soviet official, but the British government wanted to play down his defection to minimize its effect on relations between the major Western nations and the Soviet Union.

"Just What Goes On?" asked the Daily Express in a banner headline.

Fedoseyev defected May 27 during the Paris Air Show, where he was deputy chief of the Soviet delegation. The British government announced Sunday that he had been given permission to stay in Britain, and there were reports that he was the brains behind the Soyuz space station program and the robot moon exploration program.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail N. Smirnovsky demanded Monday night that the Foreign Office allow a member of his staff to interview Fedoseyev. This appeared to indicate that the man was more than a minor official.

The Foreign Office said it would relay the demand to Fedoseyev. But Undersecretary Sir Denis Greenhill told Smirnovsky that Fedoseyev was free to contact the embassy anytime he wanted to.

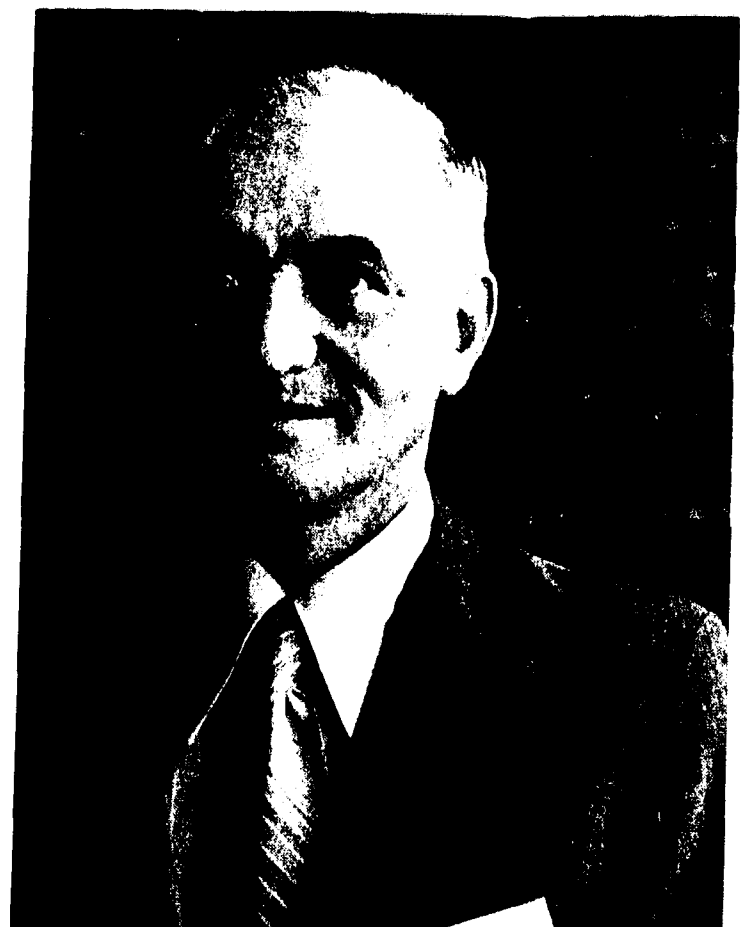

The government had the 52-year-old defector under guard somewhere in the London area and was reported still questioning him.

The Guardian newspaper said intelligence sources told it "the man was proving of positive value" and the interrogation "is far from complete."

"It was understood that unofficial approaches have been made for permission for American specialists and agents to meet him," The Guardian said.

Let a smile be your umbrella, and someone's going to get mighty wet.

Hope Federal to Pay Out Record Sum

Hundreds of Hope Federal Savings depositors will receive a record interest payment of $155,560.80 for the first six months of this year, it was announced today by Fred O. Ellis, president of the firm.

The sum is more than $17,000.00 greater than savings depositors received for the first semi-annual payment of last year when $138,525.12 was distributed.

Mr. Ellis also announced that net deposit growth for the six months of this year was near a half million dollars, which is a new high record for any six-month period in the firm's history.

Total assets jumped considerably during the same period of time, from $6,011,397.04 on January 1 to approximately $6,600,000 as of June 22, Mr. Ellis concluded.

Similar courses are being offered once each month as part of the continuing education program at the Medical Center. The course is supported by a grant from the Arkansas Regional Medical Program.

FTC Again Going After Cigarettes

By MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission plans soon to revive its seven-year-old fight to require cigarette makers to say in advertising that smoking is harmful to health.

The expected approach this time is a complaint against manufacturers charging that failure to warn of smoking's health hazards in cigarette ads is deceptive. Warnings already are required by law on cigarette packs.

A formal announcement of the proposed complaint is expected after July 1, when a congressional ban on health warning regulation by the FTC expires.

The FTC, which has backed health warnings in cigarette advertising since the 1964 report by the U.S. Surgeon General linking cigarette smoking and lung cancer, has been frustrated at every turn by Congress.

An FTC spokesman said Monday the agency's staff has recommended a plan of attack, but wouldn't say publicly what it is. The five-man commission has not acted on the recommendation as yet, he added.

Congress has forbidden the FTC to make any industry-wide cigarette advertising rule without giving it six months notice. But the FTC is expected to try to skirt this by exercising its authority to move against false and misleading advertising, a reliable staff source said.

According to some reports, the commission staff feels that there is sufficient evidence linking smoking to lung and heart diseases that failure to disclose the link in advertising is deceptive.

Shortly after the Surgeon General's report came out in January 1964, the FTC proposed a rule that would require in both advertising and on packages the warning that "cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

But before it could go into effect, Congress passed a bill requiring the warning on packs: "Caution, cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health." At the same time, it imposed on the FTC a four-year ban against further regulation of advertising.

The regulation proceedings were revived after expiration of the four-year period, but the commission held up a final decision because Congress was then considering the legislation that banned cigarette advertising from radio and television.

In its final form, the bill banned cigarette ads from the airwaves, mildly strengthened the warning on packs and prevented for another two years any action by the FTC on health warnings in advertising.

Deposit Growth Greatest IN OUR HISTORY And The Big Billion Rolls On

Since January 1, 1971, hundreds of Hope Federal Savers—both large and small—have deposited more money in Savings Accounts than any six-month period in our history. Two other records have also been set, and we thank all Hope Federal Savers for their participation in this Growth period.

1. Net Savings Deposits are near Half a Million Dollars, a new high record for this semi-annual period.
2. Hope Federal Savers will receive a whopping $155,560.80 in interest payments for the first six months of this year, topping all other records for any similar six months.
